YING WA COLLEGE

SCHOOL SONG

Home of Our Youth,
To thee we bring the homage of lives at the spring,
Training thy sons for the game of life,
Sending them forth to the age-long strife,
Ready thy name, ever bright to uphold,
Ready 'gainst evil to fight and be bold.
May those who left thee in years that are past,
Guard well thy honour, to truth holding fast.
Home of Our Youth to thee will we sing,
Long may thy name on our lips proudly ring.

Rupert Baldwin, 1938.

College History

A Brief History of Ying Wa College

The history of Ying Wa College began in early 19th century, when the London Missionary Society (LMS) sent Rev. Robert Morrison on an evangelical mission to the east. He arrived in Macao in 1807, and would subsequently become the first Protestant missionary in China. Aware of the hostility of the Ch'ing Chinese government against foreign religions, he set his sights on Malacca, then a Dutch overseas territory with a substantial Chinese community, and in 1818 together with Rev. William Milne founded the Anglo-Chinese College (ACC), aimed at "the reciprocal cultivation of English and Chinese literature and the diffusion of Christianity", the first of its kind in the Far East. Struggles in its formative years, like inadequate student numbers, the resistant attitude of locals to the Christian faith, and financial constraints, but had faced immense challenges, Anglo-Chinese College nevertheless strove to establish itself into an institute of education, theological training, translation, printing and publication – the Chinese translation of the Bible being one of its many extraordinary achievements.

Unparalleled in devotion and sense of duty, Rev. William Milne passed away while serving in office. His successors, in Rev. James Humphreys, Rev. David Collie, Rev. Samuel Kidd, Rev. Jacob Tomlin and Rev. John Evans, continued the work with impressive conviction, rising to every challenge.

In 1842, the cession of Hong Kong Island to Britain under the Treaty of Nanking opened a gateway to a whole new educational and evangelical scene. Rev. James Legge, then headmaster of Anglo-Chinese College, relocated the College to Hong Kong with a few students in 1843 on the approval of the LMS. The campus was at first a rented terraced house near the junction of D' Aguilar Street and Stanely Street, and later in 1844 relocated to the junction of Staunton Street and Aberdeen Street, where the College would carry on its work in education, theological seminary training, evangelism, translation and the publication of the Chinese version of the Bible.

Notwithstanding the increase of student enrolment to 85 in 1856, it had always proved difficult to recruit and train young people to become missionaries to China. Graduates of the ACC preferred employments which would handsomely reward their bilingual proficiency. With this Rev. Legge could not be more disappointed. Simultaneously, with re-ignited rivalry between Ch'ing China and Britain war was looming (culminating eventually in the Second Opium War). Rumours threatened violence against westerners, missionaries included. Concerned about the ultimate safety of the English missionaries, and the ACC students who shared dormitories with them, and disheartened by his 'failure' in the training of missionaries over the years, Legge decided to suspend the ACC. Anglo-Chinese College would stop new admissions in 1856, and was closed down in 1858. The printing house of the College would nonetheless survive longer with the publication of the Chinese Bible continuing, until 1873, when all operations ceased.

Blessed was history that this turned out to be just an intermission, and blessed were the unrelenting efforts of a group of determined and resilient local advocates (noteworthy among others were Rev. Cheung Chuk Ling and Au Fung Chi, minister and elder respectively of To Tsai Church), Anglo-Chinese College was revived on 9 February 1914, named Ying Wa College (which literally means Anglo-Chinese College), sponsored by To Tsai Church and under the auspices of the LMS, which had recruited Rev. Arnold Hughes as headmaster. The College was first located on Caine Road in rented premises, and would over the ensuing years shift addresses on Caine Road and Bonham Road due to short and insecure rental contracts, until 1924, when an accommodation plus vacant headship crisis threatened a second closure. The former was due to the rental contract running out with no new tenancy in order, and the latter the result of the headmaster Rev. Gordon Phillips, an urgent and temporary replacement for the prematurely deceased Rev. Hughes in 1922, having to be transferred back to his original post in Amoy. Indeed overwhelming was the stark withdrawal of government grant which had been awarded since Hughes' tenure. Then in the course of the next four years there was to be a turn of fortune. Firstly a new college building on Bute Street, Mongkok, was assigned to Ying Wa College, thanks to redistribution of resources within the Church of Christ in China (involving To Tsai Church – renamed Hop Yat Church, Kung Lee Church and the new Mongkok Church), and secondly Mr. Richard Shim, a teacher in the College at the time, volunteered to take up transitory headship left vacant by the re-commissioned Rev. Phillips.

Starting afresh at its self-owned Bute Street campus in 1928, Ying Wa College soon schooled some 200 students, began to gain public recognition and governmental support and that of the LMS. Re-introduction into the Grant Schools list and appointment of Rev. Frank Short to the headship ushered Ying Wa into its expansion era, with resources it had never had before. The inauguration of the primary section in 1932 saw the total student enrolment risen to 400.

Mr. Herbert Noble, a stalwart of equal and indiscriminate education, followed in the footsteps of Rev. Short as headmaster in 1938, at a time when the College was well on course to advancement. And then the Great War struck. Mr. Noble was interned in the concentration camp by the Japanese military. School was suspended, the college building was commandeered by the Occupation Force, and staff and students were dispersed. Japan surrendered in 1945, and Ying Wa reopened.

Post-war Ying Wa continued to expand, with the big surge in student enrolment making space of the Bute Street campus increasingly insufficient. The plan of a new school building came on the agenda, and materialised. The College moved into a new campus on Oxford Road in the summer of 1963. While facilities were substantially improved, the primary section had to cease operation due to changed government policy. It was unfortunate that Mr. Noble, the Ying Wa vanguard who oversaw the commissioning, construction and opening of the new campus, had to retire early due to health issues, after more than 30 years' dedicated service. His passing in 1964 was most untimely, and was deeply grieved by the whole college body.

Taking over the reins, Mr. Terence Iles embraced the idea of "whole-person development". He would focus on bolstering extra-curricular activities, and would introduce the House System. He would build steadily on the robust foundations laid by his predecessors. It had been a long time coming when two milestones were reached: the advent of the college newspaper Torch, as well as the Omega Rose Bowl, the overall champion of inter-school sports competitions.

Mr. Rex King assumed principalship in 1972. Endeavours to upgrade the college facilities aside, he would pioneer a series of curriculum changes — implementation of the six-day cycle system, the teaching of Putonghua to all students. He oversaw a significant growth both in class number and student population, to 31 and 1,200 respectively.

The appointment of Mr. Ho-bun Mui as principal was followed by a series of improvement works in the college building, including installation of the air-conditioning system and double-glazed windows. The College remained supportive to the students' active participation in extra-curricular activities. It was during his tenure an annual visit to Japan by three selected Ying Wa students was arranged with Hamamatsu South Rotary Club.

Mr. Po-kwan Yeung was at the helm in 1990. He was instrumental in some major changes to the College, not least the establishment of the Parent-Teacher Association in 1995, the planning and the relocation of the College to a new campus on Ying Wa Street, West Kowloon, and the revival of the Primary School in 2003.

Two months into the new campus, in September 2003, Mr. Roger Lee took over the principalship, and steered the College through the implementation of the "through-train policy" with the Primary School, and the Direct Subsidy Scheme from 2007 onwards. Continuing the mission of nurturing morality and integrity in young people, Mr. Allan Cheng, principal since 2011, would encourage his students to unleash their potential in areas beyond the academic and uphold the qualities expected of Ying Wa boys: "Simple and Unadorned, Outstanding but Humble".

The College Bicentenary in 2018 was marked by a diverse array of celebratory events — an academic conference on the Christian missions of Anglo-Chinese College/Ying Wa College through the centuries, an Exhibition as well as the publication of its Bicentenary History, to mention but a few. These activities have reaffirmed the College's commitment towards its founding aim and mission, and its determination to inspire young minds in the face of the challenges in the 21st century.

God has guided Ying Wa through the hardest of times and today we see His grace in the sound foundation and the good name the College is enjoying. Mr. Dion Chen, an energetic and dedicated professional, appointed principal in 2021, he has imparted unto us the belief that Ying Wa College will be guided to the next horizon, when the best is yet to come off the 'through train' from the Primary School, in addition to young men aspiring to join the generations of Ying Wa students, who have come to learn and have left for a world they are fully committed to better.

The Old Boys' Association

The Ying Wa College Old Boys' Association was established with a view to strengthening the Ying Wa Spirit by offering financial and spiritual support to the alma mater. Their active participation in the school's activities is a valuable asset of the College and a great support to the school's improvement work.

The Parent-Teacher Association

The Parent-Teacher Association, established in 1995, aims at promoting communication and deepening mutual understanding between the College and the parents. Through talks, seminars as well as educational and recreational activities every year, it has created a favourable environment for the materialisation of "home-school cooperation" and the development of harmonious parent-child relationships.

School Facilities

The College campus comprises a secondary section and a primary section and the design of the building was a modified Y2K style. These two sections share a football pitch, basketball courts and the gardens. Apart from the standard facilities, the College also possesses a self-access Learning Centre, a grand hall which can accommodate 1,200 students, a showroom of the College's heritage, an open arts gallery, a Christian fellowship room, tutorial rooms, music practice rooms, a canteen and a fitness room.

Academics

Vision

Ying Wa College aims to nurture all Ying Wa boys into fine young men of noble character with solid academic competence and career aspirations who yearn for being knowledgeable, to stretch their potential and gear them up for venturing into the world of further studies and work.

Learning Goals

Ying Wa College in implementing the Hong Kong Secondary School curriculum has adopted the following learning goals for each student:

- to be biliterate and trilingual, with a flair for languages;
- to be numerically knowledgeable and competent in critical thinking, independent learning, as well as interpersonal, moral, civic, physical, and aesthetic development;
- to become an informed and responsible citizen with a sense of global and national identity;
- to respect and appreciate different cultures and views;
- to acquire IT and other necessary 21st century skills for being a lifelong learner;
- to understand their own career and academic aspirations and develop positive attitudes towards work and learning; and
- to lead a healthy lifestyle with active participation in aesthetic and physical activities.

Purposeful Learning

We believe that students become effective learners only when they develop a sense of purpose in own learning. Therefore, the school emphasises developing students' ownership of learning. Our curriculum is meticulously planned in a way that our boys are not only trained to excel in public examinations, but more importantly they can make sense of their learning experiences at school, connect it with their community, venture forth into the world with the knowledge they have acquired and become lifelong learners with a strong sense of curiosity and enthusiasm.

Curriculum

Ying Wa College has established a flexible, diverse curriculum that enables every student to possess a breadth and foundation of knowledge in the eight Key Learning Areas. While our students are motivated to strive for academic excellence, the school gives enhancing academic atmosphere and learning motivation top priority.

In junior forms, we offer a comprehensive curriculum which strikes a good balance between different key learning areas: languages; mathematics; science; personal, social & humanities; physical; aesthetic and technology.

In senior forms, students can choose between the local HKDSE curriculum or international curriculum.

Under the HKDSE curriculum, students are offered maximum flexibility in choosing their elective subject combination based on their academic interests and career aspirations so that they can realise their potential. Senior students can choose to take two to three elective subjects plus the four core subjects (Chinese, English, Mathematics and Citizenship and Social Development). Both Maths extended modules (M1 – Calculus & Statistics and M2 – Algebra & Calculus) are available.

International Curriculum

To cater for the diverse needs and aspirations of further students, the College is now introducing a new academic structure of International Advanced Levels (IAL). One of our S.4 classes adopts a hybrid curriculum in which students will sit for IGCSE exams in Chinese, English, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology. Additionally, they will study Citizenship and Social Development (HKDSE curriculum), Music, Physical Education, and Religious Education (school-based curriculum). In S.5 and S.6, these students will transition to the IAL curriculum (International A Level), where the school prepares them to sit for the IAL exams in Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology/Further Mathematics at A-Level.

Class Structure in 2025-2026

There are 6 classes in S.1-S.5 and 5 classes in S.6, with approximately 34 students per class at each level.

Co-curricular Activities

To promote a strong academic ambience, Ying Wa College offers a range of co-curricular activities which extend students' learning experiences beyond the traditional classroom. Such activities, which building upon and complementing the core curriculum, include English Corner and the English Learning Passport Scheme (ELP), Young Scholar Reading Scheme, Scienceland, Science Research Team, Geography field trips and civic education forums, to name a few. The Ying Wa Culture Circle and James Legge Culturati Award Scheme are established among teachers and students to promote the appreciation of literature, language, art and culture at school through multi-disciplinary perspectives. Students can grasp the opportunities to become independent learners, enrich their knowledge and broaden their horizons by making use of available school and community resources.

Overseas Education Tours

We believe that overseas education tours can offer our students a life-changing learning experience and a chance to reflect on their future career as they come across an exotic environment. Over the years, different subject departments have crafted educational trips for our students in the form of overseas excursions, aiming to inculcate a global vision in our future leaders and developing their understanding of their own responsibilities in the local and international contexts. Some examples of those tours, which covered a wide range of destinations and areas of study across the years are:

- Geology study tours to Jeju, South Korea
- Geology cum liberal studies tours to Iceland, Japan and New Zealand
- History and Cultural study tours to North Korea and South Korea, Poland, Greece and Turkey
- Visual arts trip to Venice, Italy
- Christian leadership training tour to Toronto, Canada
- ICT and STEAM trips to Britain, Israel and the USA
- Exchange and sister-school tours to China
- Music tours to Japan, Singapore, Europe and Australia
- Physical Education tours and sports trainings to Taipei, Japan and China

Such tours were filled with eye-opening cultural exchanges and offered our boys an enriching experience both linguistically and culturally.

Guiding Principles of Careers Guidance and Life Planning Education of Ying Wa College

Whilst our young boys grow by knowing more about themselves and by developing skills related to their aspirations, our school strives to:

- Bolster careers education through a holistic careers guidance curriculum across all forms in school;
- Promote careers/life planning and students' self-actualisation together with academic development and pursuit of academic achievements;
- Inspire students to find their life purpose, set tangible careers goals and take action to achieve them;
- Provide students with information, facilitation and assistance in their careers development pertaining to different stages of careers awareness, careers exploration, careers preparation and careers decision so that they can make informed choices for their future.

Professional Careers Guidance Personnel and Programmes

Our school enjoys an illustrious history of championing careers and life planning education and has always been at the forefront of its development. Our former principal, Mr. Herbert Noble, was one of the founding executive members of Hong Kong Association of Careers Masters (HKACMGM) which was established in the late 1950s in Hong Kong. The school has a strong careers guidance committee comprising 16 teachers, offering a wide range of careers support and life planning education programmes to meet students' diverse needs. Vice Principals and some careers teachers have received 100-hour certificate course training in secondary school careers guidance.

It has been our cherished tradition to offer individual careers counseling service to students at different levels of study. Different career-related experiences, like visits to workplaces and job shadowing, are provided, and guidance is given to students in choosing their elective subjects based on their strengths, ability and careers aspirations. Similarly, they are assigned different elective subjects under the same principle.

> S.5 Careers Day 2025

Since 2007, under the framework of the careers education curriculum and by using the guidebooks "Finding Your Colours of Life" and "Career Mapping" of HKACMGM, the school has delivered careers lessons for students from S.3 to S.6. Specific workshops are also conducted in class to facilitate students' exploration of their identity, interests, careers goals and pathways of further study. In addition, these workshops can help equip them with the essential skills to prepare and present their learning profile and personal statements. A "whole-school approach" has been adopted to ensure a cohesive response to the diverse learning and personal needs, with careers teachers working closely with class teachers in order that a coherent careers guidance support may be provided.

As one of the pioneers of careers guidance in the secondary school context, our careers teachers have been invited to conduct numerous staff development workshops for their counterparts from other schools. Mr. Joseph Tsang, in his capacity as the Vice chairperson of HKACMGM, had also participated in countless international conferences in careers guidance and school counselling held in the U.S., Japan, Korea, Singapore, Taiwan and Macau on behalf of the school as well as conducted training courses for local careers teachers.

The school takes pride in our stellar careers programme, namely. S.5 Careers Day. It aims at helping senior students gain insights into their favourite careers and possible careers paths through interacting with alumni from different fields. Thanks to the programme, bonding between students and alumni is forged and the young boys get precious support in terms of their careers planning.

S.5 students with similar careers interests will be grouped together and meet alumni mentors. Since the program's inception in 2009, the school has successfully solicited assistance from 300 alumni from various professional areas, namely medical, law, engineering, psychology, health care, finance, accounting, information technology etc.

Building on the S.5 Careers Day, the school has the honour of having alumni from various industries open their workplaces for S.5 students to visit. This unprecedented opportunity allows students to gain firsthand experience and a deeper understanding of the professional world, helping them to establish careers aspirations.

Gifted Education

Gifted education, one of the major strengths of Ying Wa College, has been well developed over the past decade. We started to provide school-based gifted programs in 2004. In 2007, the Gifted Education Committee was established. Committee members from different departments share ideas and organise different types of gifted programs. Approximately 70 academic gifted programs or competitions take place every year. In the past few years, some of our students, who represented Hong Kong, clinched prizes from world-wide organisations like International Junior Science Olympiad, International Mathematics Olympiad and Microsoft Office Specialist World Championship.

Development of Gifted Education in Ying Wa

The Gifted Education Committee in our school is responsible for coordinating all the gifted programs, which are the brainchildren of different departments. The seven main duties of the committee are:

- selecting students;
- recording students' results;
- developing different types of school-based programmes;
- promoting students' achievements;
- devising school-based policies;
- providing parent education and
- bolstering staff development

Apart from the aforementioned duties, the Gifted Education Committee has come up with custom-made departmental development strategies and well-planned gifted programs for main subjects or learning areas such as Chinese, English, Mathematics and STEAM.

Students' Exemplary Results in Various Academic Gifted Programmes and Competitions

For the past few years, our students have joined the HKUST Dual Program (DP), an acceleration gifted program in Mathematics and Science offered by the University. Some of our students finished Level 3 of the program. They completed their courses alongside other university students in HKUST, CUHK, HKU and obtained credits from the University. The Gifted Education Fund: Off-school Advanced Learning Programmes has offered our students an opportunity to participate in various advanced training courses on topics such as big data and quantum computing at local universities.

Outstanding achievements in International Competitions

We have backed our boys in participating in many international competitions in order to extend their horizons. Our boys have been selected to represent Hong Kong to compete with other countries. They made outstanding achievements in competitions such as the International Junior Science / Mathematics / Biology / Geography Olympiad, Asia Pacific ICT award, Microsoft Office Specialist Championship, etc.

International Junior Science Olympiad 2023

From school training to the Hong Kong selection test in 2022, Marcus Tsang from form 3 received First Class Honours. He was then trained by HKAGE. From about 190 candidates in Phase 1 to the final six students in Phase 3, he later represented Hong Kong in a team of six students to compete in Thailand in December 2023. He won the Silver Award among participants from over 50 countries.

English Gifted Programmes

The English Department provides our gifted students with ample opportunities to unleash their potential and broaden their horizons. Two gifted programmes, English Debating Team and Lit it Up, are organised. Students attend regular workshops run by our English teachers or trainers, where they enhance their debating and critical thinking skills and have opportunities to exchange their ideas on social issues and English literature.

Our students showed marvellous performance in English competitions. This year, our students took great delight in participating in Speech Festival, being awarded in a wide variety of events including Solo Verse Speaking, Solo Prose Speaking and News Feature Presentation. Our English Debating Team was awarded the First Runner-up for EMI2 and EMI3 divisions in the UNSDGs Debating Competition. Our student writers have also fared remarkably well and were awarded Bronze, Highly Commended and Honourable Mention in various English writing competitions, including two prestigious events Hong Kong Young Writers Awards and Budding Poets (English) Award.

Academic Activities at school

A number of academic activities such as English Corner and Scienceland are organised during lunch time and after school for all students; the former activity provides students with chances to learn English by interacting with NETs while the latter is for students to enrich their knowledge through sharing and workshops during lunch break.

InnoTech / STEAM activities / competitions highlight

Ying Wa has a student community called InnoBoys, which is for students who are interested in innovative technology, creativity, and all InnoTech / STEAM related activities.

To unleash their potential, we have promoted STEAM education "for all", "for fun" and "for diversity" with a solid foundation in science, technology and mathematics; as well as artificial intelligence in our junior secondary curriculum since 2019.

Our InnoBoys apply the design thinking with empathy, they define and ideate to explore the situation within the community. They joined the activity, competition and exchange trip with the integration of the InnoTech / STEAM concepts and design thinking and got recognition from professional judges from IT industry leaders, professors and intended users.

We have entered the Global Final of MakeX robotic competition; attend different InnoTech exhibition to showcase InnoBoys' achievement, such as InnoGala, and UK BETTShow; as well as InnoTech / STEAM Trip to Shanghai in order to broaden InnoBoys' horizons.

Mathematics Gifted Programme

The Mathematics department provides numerous opportunities for our gifted students to show their potential and broaden their horizons. Gifted programmes, one for S.1 and one for S.2 to S.4, are provided to students. They will be invited to join various competitions throughout the year.

This year, our students continue their great work as they claimed the 1st runner-up in the MathConception, being one of the Top 10 schools in the Hong Kong Mathematics High-Achievers Selection Contest, and get the Merits awards in Hong Kong Mathematics Creative Problem Solving Competition for Secondary School and the Hong Kong Hua Luo-geng Cup Mathematics Competition. At the same time, 2 students got the Bronze Award and 2 students received the Merit Award in the International Mathematical Olympiad Preliminary Selection Contest – Hong Kong.

Student Development & Support

Empathetic, responsible, respectful, humble, and trustworthy are the core values of Ying Wa College. Through our student support curriculum, we expect our students to develop into young virtuous gentlemen, embodying our school motto: steadfast faith and beneficent deeds.

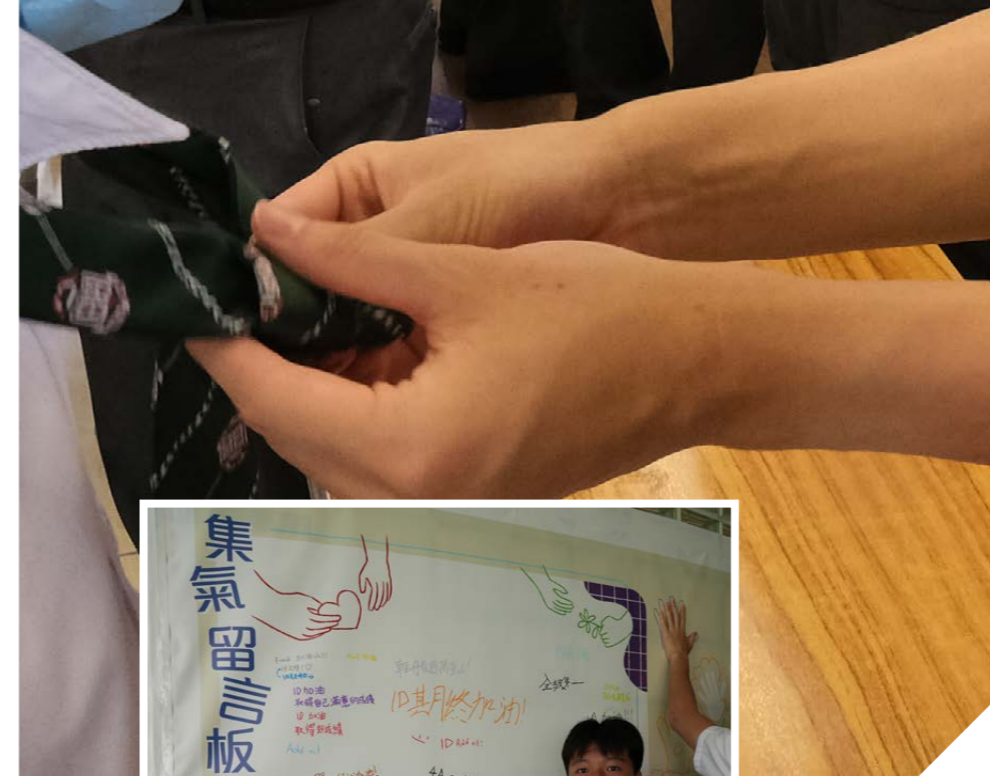

> School prefects holding Tie Workshop for S1 boys

> Ice cream Flash Mob

- All S.1 students are required to take part in training for either a musical instrument or a sport activity to develop their non-academic potential. To prepare S.1 students for secondary school life, besides adaptation programs conducted by the class teachers and our Student Development Officer, the Brotherhood Scheme, a peer support program organized by the Guidance Committee, offers newcomers the opportunity to meet senior form boys and receive peer support for a smooth transition.
- "Smart Generations", a school-based pastoral care program, coordinated by our Guidance Committee and supported by external agencies such as the Positive Education Laboratory of the City University of Hong Kong, is designed for students in S.1 to S.3. The program is incorporated into class teacher periods to assess students' social-emotional health and instil positive attitudes and behaviours.

> Cheering activity before the Final Exam

> S.1 Discovery Camp

• Self-awareness of the changing role as a secondary school student is emphasised across all aspects of campus life. Students undergo a process of self-exploration, scrutinizing their own aspirations and strengths through serving their peers. The school strategically introduces students to various positions, such as the Student Council, Houses, Prefect Board, and diverse interest clubs and societies, including the Audio Visual Team, Library Prefects, Guidance Ambassadors, Student Ambassadors, and Christian student groups. Students demonstrate a high level of commitment, making considerable contributions to providing support for their schoolmates. The school also leverages these learning opportunities as a platform for further educational development and life planning for the students.

Through various platforms to serve, our boys are therefore trained and transformed into 'servant leaders' and forged a global vision through these learning journeys. All students are encouraged to serve the local community and the needy abroad by committing to voluntary work. Besides taking an active role in Interact Club, Red Cross, CYC, AYP and the Scouts.

• DELTA X Program: Since 2023, the school has launched the DELTA X Program, a school-based student development initiative with a unique thematic focus to align with the growth of students across different forms. DELTA X is the acronym for the themes spanning six forms: Discovery, Exploration, Leadership, Together we serve, Aspiration, and Extraordinary. Through this theme-based program, students are expected to gain a deeper understanding of themselves and better equip themselves for the future.

> S.2 & S.3 DELTA X Programme

With the collective efforts of our professional team – teachers, school social workers, educational psychologist and clinical psychologist – we are committed to preparing Ying Wa boys to become future leaders with a positive mindset and a grateful heart.

Religious Activities

Ying Wa College, with a long history spanning over 200 years, was established by Rev. Robert Morrison, a missionary who was fired up for Jesus Christ. The founding purpose of our school was reciprocal cultivation of English and Chinese literature as well as the spread of Christianity. The motto of the school is "Steadfast Faith, Beneficent Deeds", which is closely related to Christianity. Our religious activities adhere to the Christian spirit of Rev. Morrison, who epitomised how one's life can exemplify our school motto. It is hoped that students can hold fast to their Christian faith while striving to share in the holy work of spreading the Gospel of Jesus Christ, with positive values and spiritual tenacity instilled in them.

"Christian Faith
with a Mission"

"Religious Journey of People of Ying Wa"

Morning Prayer

Everyone who comes to Ying Wa is the apple of God's eye and is much treasured.

Every morning, there is a short sharing of Bible teachings for five minutes as well as blessings and prayers led by the principal, teachers or students. A new day in the campus starts with a fresh anointing of divine favors and joy from God. Christians and non-Christians alike are blessed and touched by God's lovingkindness.

Morning Assemblies

During our morning assemblies, there are readings from the Bible, hymn-singing and orders written by Mr. Rex King, our former Principal, to be recited by all. It is hoped that an appreciation for others and a readiness to serve others in Christian love can be inculcated in our students. In our Gospel morning assemblies, sharing from campus youth pastor, Christian alumni or different Christian organisations takes place so that students can unlock a treasure chest of scriptural truths and have their lives nourished and transformed.

Religious Education

Religious Education is offered to students from S.1 to S.5. Starting from the 2018-19 school year, we have been providing senior form students with Ethics and Religious Studies as a DSE elective subject. We impart values and teachings of Christianity to the students and guide them through building a goal-driven life, rooted in God's love for them and grounded in the Christian faith. Through real-life stories, the courses serve to convey sound Christian beliefs: embracing a God-centred life with enthusiasm, confronting challenges with grit, knowing God as well as contemplating their lives holistically by delving deeper into the boundless treasure of the Lord's unchanging love. It is expected that the students will gain a richer understanding of the Holy Word and the meaning of life while the reality of Christian faith through experiencing God in different life situations will sink in. The seeds of the Gospel will hopefully be planted in their hearts and bloom over time.

> Christmas Market

Gospel Week

Gospel Week events, which highlight religious activities at Ying Wa, took place over two weeks. Activities such as a Gospel band show, Blessing CUP finals, Gospel movie sharing, and book fairs were conducted. We follow up with new believers, help cultivate their newfound faith and guide them to enjoy an abundant, blessed life that Jesus Christ has in store for them.

> Gospel Weeks

Christian Leadership Training

Our world needs leaders who follow in the footsteps of Jesus Christ and advocate godly values. We hope that Ying Wa boys can be trained as servant leaders and pass on the baton of faith from generation to generation. A group called "PETROS" (meaning 'a little stone', "Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man built his house on the rock." (Matthew 7:24) was gathered to forge brotherly bonds, inspire a yearning for spiritual growth as well as equip youth leaders to serve on campus.

> Workshop team "Eternity"

> Gospel Weeks

School-Church Partnership

The school has been enjoying a favorable relationship and partnership with Ying Wa Church and Mongkok Church. Some alumni have now become church leaders in the youth congregation, ministering to the youngsters in His love. Our campus pastor provides training and mentoring support to our boys in their faith walk in hopes of forging closer ties between the churches and our school.

> Alpha Cell Group

Student Worship Team (Eternity)

We have recruited passionate and gifted students in worshipping and exalting God from Petros and junior form Christians to serve in different Gospel activities, such as Gospel assemblies, Gospel band shows and fellowships. Weekly training is provided to equip them with worship theology, skills, biblical knowledge and to nurture their spiritual life.

Christian Students Groups and Fellowship for Teachers and Old Boys

A wonderful sense of camaraderie and solidarity among Christian brothers manifest itself in the boys' interactions in the Ying Wa Christian students groups is manifested. A rich variety of activities such as testimony sharing, Bible studies, evangelistic training, birthday parties, prayer meetings and interactive activities are run regularly by Christian teachers who are concerned about our students' faithful journeys as well as the social issues impacting our society.

Besides, we have a teacher fellowship called "Home of Our Teachers" with a loving, supportive team. May the Lord bless Ying Wa through the students and teachers who serve as instruments of His love and grace.

Morrison Fellowship, a cell group catering for the old boys, was established by a group of alumni who are fervent followers of Jesus Christ in late 2018. They pray together at gatherings with a monthly special theme and join forces to support Gospel work on campus.

Gospel Soccer Competition (Blessing CUP)

To encourage students to share and live out their faith, we organise the "Blessing CUP" soccer competition in our football pitch every year; our teachers and students enjoy themselves immensely.

"Arise, shine; for your light has come, and the glory of the LORD rises upon you. See, darkness covers the earth, and thick darkness is over the peoples; but the LORD rises upon you, and his glory appears over you"

Isaiah 60:1-2 (NIV)

The principal, teachers, students, parents and churches join hands to organise Gospel activities of Ying Wa College so that the Ying Wa community is blessed tremendously. May all glory be unto God.

Leadership Training

Mission

The college has always been the cradle of leaders as we consider leadership training an integral part of our curriculum. It is our mission to nurture student leaders with outstanding generic skills as well as high moral integrity through our leadership training programmes which are closely connected with different service schemes.

> Every year, the Student Council decorates our Christmas tree with tinsel and lights to celebrate Christmas with the whole school

Clubs and Societies

To facilitate the training of the creativity and leadership skills of our students, the college has more than 40 clubs and societies which can be categorised into four groups: the academic group, the interest group, the service group and the sports group. Each is run by a committee of S.3 to S.5 students who may organise a variety of student-led activities, ranging from interest classes to cultural exchange tours. Ying Wa boys, always with a heart of gold, cares about the underprivileged. Over the years, the Community Youth Club, the Interact Club, the AYP, Red Cross and Scouts have offered a wide range of service programmes for our students, such as the CYC Flower Auction, which is an annual fundraising highlight, and the Sham Shui Po Experiential Service Project organised by the Interact Club, in which students deliver necessities to the homeless. Our Red Cross has also been recognised regularly as evidenced by the awards it has received. We believe that students will gain invaluable hands-on experience of problem solving, teamwork, effective communication, etc. by organising and implementing activities.

> Students playing Taiko Arena at the Student Council activity Music Fest

> Ying Wa Basketball All-Star Tournament

> Principal Chen singing with the Band Society

> Clubs and Societies setting up booths to recruit new members at the Member Recruitment Day

With a view to providing further guidance for our student leaders in the course of accumulating experience in activity and event management, a series of Club Chairman Leadership Training Workshops are held every year by the Other Learning Experiences Committee. School-based learning packages, developed by the teacher advisors from our Student Council, are used during these workshops which cover topics like the criteria of success for activities, activity scheduling, division of labour, preparation for materials, budgeting, promotion, contingency plans, etc. eLearning has also been incorporated into the workshops, such as the use of tablets and apps to produce promotional videos.

> The 205th Anniversary Special Edition Hoodie designed by Virtus, Student Council 2023-2024

> Student Council Cabinet Members 2024-2025

Student Council

Established in the 1960s, our Student Council serves as an important bridge between the college and the students. Besides the ten S.4 to S.5 cabinet members elected by students and teachers, the Council consists of representatives from various student bodies such as the Prefect Board, the five houses, the Music Union, the Sports Section and the school newspaper Torch. Through organising in-school and inter-school activities, the Student Council also becomes the open platform for gathering student leaders with different talents who can share their passions, set out a vision, forge brotherhood and encourage one another to overcome challenges. These qualities have always been instilled in generations of Ying Wa boys, transforming them into true leaders. To enrich the campus life at college, Virtus, the Student Council 2023-2024, made their best endeavour to design new activities. Not only were they responsible for organising the 205th Anniversary human puzzle photo taking with students, teachers and staff from both the College and the Primary Sections, but they also initiated creative challenges such as the Music Fest, which was very well received among teachers and students.

Outstanding Students

Our students' talents, leadership qualities and contributions to society have been recognised in major events such as the SCMP Student of the Year Award, the Hong Kong Outstanding Students Award, the Kowloon District Outstanding Students Award, the Shamshui Po District Outstanding Students Award and the Sham Shui Po District Outstanding Volunteers Award.

Wong King Yeung Kenneth was the winner of the Award for Outstanding Performance in Extra-Curricular Activities given by the Hong Kong Extra-curricular Activities Masters' Association. As one of the participants in the 13-day Antarctic Study Tour organised by the Partners Education Foundation, he represented our school and embarked on a life-changing journey that deepened his understanding of international environmental issues. The breathtaking scenery, combined with the peaceful atmosphere in Antarctica, filled him with a profound sense of tranquility and awe. He hopes that such extraordinary landscapes can be preserved for future generations to witness and cherish. Upon his return, he shared his observations with our fellow students in the hope of raising public awareness about the importance of environmental protection. "The world is vast, and humanity is small in comparison to the grandeur of nature. Yet, as the global population continues to grow rapidly, the pace of natural recovery falls far behind human development. Only through sustainable development and conservation can we protect our shared home," Kenneth reflected.

Community Service

Mission

Ying Wa College is committed to encouraging students to serve the community, as we believe it is a blessing to give rather than to receive. Through participating in various service programs, our students can not only utilise their skills for a good cause, but also broaden their global vision and acquire essential soft skills. Besides offering different service opportunities, we also encourage our students to apply their learning to real-life situations. Participating in a wide range of service programs and events shapes our students into humble and dedicated servant leaders. Through this, we are confident that every Ying Wa boy will find a way to give back to the community.

Cultivating the Spirit of Service

Community service is a collective endeavour, and through service-learning, we aim to inspire a lasting spirit of service among our students.

We regularly hold assemblies for students to connect with the struggles of the underprivileged. Interact Club members from Ying Wa College and Ying Wa Girls' School are invited to share their first-hand service experiences. Through the word-of-mouth from their peers, the realities of ongoing social issues could further imprint onto our students and encourage personal reflection. Additionally, speakers from diverse backgrounds are invited to share their unique perspectives through various creative platforms. These sharing sessions fostered greater understanding and empathy, exposed students to new ways of thinking, and showcased the rich diversity of our global community.

At the junior secondary level, a service-learning program is implemented which provides students with insights and hands-on experiences through sharing sessions and experiential activities. This program develops student's practical skills like communication, organisations, and problem-solving. It also promotes the formation of positive values, strengthening the connection between the school and the community.

Furthermore, volunteer training is offered to better equip our students with the skills and essential elements for effective community service planning and commitment. These training aim to help students develop traits like self-confidence and personal strength, and instil invaluable service skills, from problem-solving to effective communication, shaping them into humble and capable servant leaders.

Ying Wa Sharing Love

Amidst the challenges of the pandemic, we launched the "It's Your Turn! Donate!" campaign to spread the love and care of our students. Through various donation drives, we aim to collect valuable resources for individuals in the Sham Shui Po district. It is especially vital for our students to learn the importance of community contribution earlier on, when it is so easy to lose track of the golden heart of giving within this age of materialism.

The campaign also offered our students the opportunity to serve the community directly. Participants of the Scarf Knitting Workshop learned the basics of knitting and created delicately crafted scarves, which were then given to the elderly as "lucky bags" through the Ying Wa College Community Youth Club's Lunar New Year Service Project, bringing them warmth in the winter season. Although these acts might seem insignificant in the bigger picture of improving the underprivileged's living conditions, getting the message of "we care" across is important as it is.

Local Service Programmes

Ying Wa boys are offered diverse service opportunities to engage with the local community and explore their passions.

Over the years, our students have consistently participated in the 333 Learning Companion Leadership Program, serving as tutors to provide academic support for underprivileged children in Sham Shui Po. This program offers an invaluable platform for students to reflect on their personal growth while working closely with members of the neighbouring community. By witnessing how their knowledge can help those with limited access to societal resources, students would gain a sense of gratitude and accomplishment, encouraging them to take the initiative in taking up the role of a servant leader in communities.

Ying Wa boys are encouraged to start up their own community projects as well. After conducting research and surveying, students would identify an area of interest in which they would like to provide specialised service programs. A greater degree of enthusiasm towards community work could be fostered and students would be more open to participating in future volunteering works when given the flexibility to build up their customised service projects.

To further engage students in service-learning, the school implemented the Delta X service-learning program for S.4 students. To most, this form-based initiative is their very first introduction to the world of service learning and community work. Over time, students would go from taking their beginning steps of outlining a people-orientated service program to carrying out their original service ideas in full swing. It is hoped their passion for service could be ignited and continuously dwell within them throughout a lifetime.

As technology advances, volunteer service methods have diversified. As tech-savvy servant leaders, students have a duty to help the less privileged utilise the miracle of technology. Our school participated in various technology orientated services, including The Hong Kong Polytechnic University's "Artificial Intelligence X Object Recognition STEM Education Program." By teaching the basis of AI and programming skills to the visually impaired, the program goes as far as assisting them in better performing daily tasks to becoming more competitive in the employment market. A group of F.5 students also participated in the Hong Kong InnoHealth Cup, organised by the Li Ka Shing Faculty of Medicine. The team developed a project titled, "MindLink", an AI-powered mental health support platform designed to assist teenagers through guided self-assessment, mood tracking, and optional report generation for professional use. In addition, our boys served old local stores in Sham Shui Po by utilizing the 3D scanning technology to preserve vintage memorabilia of historical values.

By participating in diverse service activities, students are able to extend their STEM knowledge into identifying and addressing real life issues faced by the serviced audience, making good use of their education in a meaningful context.

Service Programmes Abroad

Ying Wa boys do not confine their service to the local community. Our Interact Club has been running an annual Summer Service Trip to support the underprivileged in Mainland China and Southeast Asia for over a decade. Additionally, our student ambassadors regularly organise large-scale fund-raising campaigns for Orbis, drawing attention to the importance of universal eye health care.

As the winning school of the Orbis Student Ambassador Campaign for twelve consecutive years, our students have performed remarkably during their missions in developing countries like China, Cambodia, Vietnam, Bangladesh, Nepal and Mongolia. Upon their return, they would share their service experiences with the college community, encouraging their fellow schoolmates to serve those in need as well.

In 2017, as the second secondary school to participate, our boys collaborated with the IDEA Project. Standing by the golden principle that knowledge is power, our students worked hard to provide a better learning infrastructure for the future generations of Cambodian children. They put in brains and sweat in the involvement of both the design and construction phases of a classroom, a hygiene booth and outdoor facilities for the iHerb English Language School in Oudongk District, Kampong Speu Province. Although their visit is only a few weeks short, their efforts to pave a better future for the local community are long lasting.

Seeing the success of our previous trip, in 2019, Ying Wa boys once again worked with the IDEA Project team. This time around, they joined hands with HKU SPACE architecture students and headed to Krong Svay Rieng, Cambodia. There, they continued their previous line of work and constructed a brand-new classroom and other facilities for the local community. Their hard labor is more than worthwhile when considering how drastically the lives of those underprivileged children are changed for the better.

Aside from the student-led programs, our teachers also participated in a series of volunteer work to provide soft skills for the Cambodia community. Through exchanging teaching experiences with the local teachers and holding lessons, the expertise of our staff members can be shared with the community and improve the quality of education while facilitating cultural understanding. It is a massive step forward for incorporating the idea of a globalised service community into our project.

With the emphasis of a global vision, community service has long passed the confines of borders. Ying Wa College will continue to align its service with the global community and do its best to give back to not just Hong Kong, but to those all around the globe as well.

Music

Music Tradition

Music and the quest for artistry have been a crucial driving force behind the pursuit of excellence and fulfillment on the part of generations of Ying Wa boys over the years. The earliest music team, Chapel Choir, was founded in the 1930s. Since then, the College Orchestra, the Chinese Orchestra, the College Band, the String Orchestra, various levels of choirs and different ensembles were established in the past eight decades. Ying Wa College has been nurturing many passionate and skillful musicians over the years.

The Music Union at Ying Wa upholds the value of "Simple and Unadorned, Outstanding but Humble". Through frequent visits, exchange programmes as well as local and international competitions, we provide a platform for all young musicians to unleash their potentials, enriching their exposure, and bringing up young servant leaders.

Upholding our dedication to the mission of promoting Chinese and Western music, the College Choir and Orchestras perform Chinese music, Western music as well as music integrating Chinese and Western styles. Ying Wa boys always comport themselves with enthusiasm and confidence as music ambassadors to promote "East meets West" and bridge cultures through music, exemplifying the name of Ying Wa.
